

Contents

Introduction and Overview	1
Public Knowledge About Osteoporosis	10
Information About Osteoporosis Currently Available to the Public	11
Public Information About Osteoporosis Available from the Mass Media and Commercial Publishers	11
▪ Information Available from the Mass Media	11
▪ Information Available from Commercial Publishers	16
Public Information About Osteoporosis Available from Private Organizations	16
▪ Information Available from the National Osteoporosis Foundation	17
▪ Information Available from Other Voluntary Associations	19
▪ Information Available from Individual Health Care Organizations	22
▪ Information Available from Dairy Industry Organizations	24
▪ Information Available from Pharmaceutical Companies	27
Public Information About Osteoporosis Available from Federal and State Government Agencies	31
• Information Available from the National Institutes of Health	31
▪ Information Available from the Food and Drug Administration	34
▪ Information Available from the Office of Disease Prevention and Health Promotion	36
▪ Information Available from the Office on Women Health	37
▪ Information Available from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention	37
▪ Information Available from the Administration on Aging	37
▪ Information Available from the Department of Agriculture	38

•Information Available from the State Osteoporosis
Programs 39
Conclusion 39

APPENDIX A: Coverage of Osteoporosis in Consumer Magazines 43

References 49

Index 57